

PROVIDENCE HEAD COACH TIM ARMY QUOTES

Talk about the season to this point and the upcoming home-and-home series against UNH this weekend?:

We obviously dug ourselves a pretty good hole, a deep hole for the first half of the season to the Christmas Holiday. I think we've played better hockey, more consistent hockey since Christmas. I think Alex (Beaudry) has given us some stability in the net. We've played better, put some points on the board. I was disappointed last weekend that we didn't get a point or two out of the weekend. I thought we played pretty well overall. We made a couple of mistakes in some key moments in both games that took us out of the games. But, again, I think we've played more consistently. We're playing against a very good team this weekend Friday night in their building, where we haven't had a great deal of success over the years. They skate so well and they use that rink so well. They move the puck efficiently and quick and they've got such opportunistic players and they play with such great tempo to their game. We'll work in the next couple of days and try to have ourselves as ready as we possibly can be for Friday and as I said in an environment where we haven't had a great deal of success and then we'll focus on Saturday night after the Friday night game.
