

ATHLETIC REPUBLIC PLAYER OF THE YEAR

This honor is awarded by the head coaches to one player among those nominated for consideration. A player receiving this recognition has demonstrated superior play and leadership for his team.

Senior forward Bobby Butler in the seventh UNH student-athlete to garner this honor and is the fourth Wildcat forward to earn the distinction, along with Jason Krog (199), Darren Haydar (2002) and Steve Saviano (2004).

Butler was a First-Team All-American and First-Team Hockey East All-Star as he ranked second in the nation with 29 goals.

Boston College and New Hampshire players have earned 12 of the last 14 Hockey East Player of the Year honors, with former Terrier goalie John Curry breaking that trend in 2006-07 and NU goalie Brad Thiessen in 2008-09.

PRO AMBITIONS ROOKIE OF THE YEAR

Sponsored by Pro Ambitions Hockey, this award is voted by the head coaches and is given to the first-year player who has shown skill, ability and leadership beyond that expected of a player in his rookie year.

Da Costa is the first Merrimack player in team history to win the award, as he led the Merrimack College roster in scoring with 45 points (16g,29a). His 45 points are a new freshman record at Merrimack and it's the most scored by any Warrior player since Rejean Stringer in the 1998-99 season. The Paris, France native finished 18 points ahead of the next first-year player in the Hockey East Rookie scoring race with 36 points (9g, 27a) in 26 league contests. His league play point total ranked third in the conference among all league skaters. He was also named National Rookie of the Year by the Hockey Commissioners Association.

ROOKIE OF THE YEAR

HOCKEY EAST

THE HOCKEY HUMANITARIAN AWARD

Arguably the highest individual honor in the sport of college ice hockey, the Hockey Humanitarian Award bridges the gender gap between the men's and women's game and any perceived talent gap between divisions. Annually presented to the athlete that best demonstrates the highest qualities of humanity, the award has become a symbol for everything that is right with college athletics, and it is an honor just to be nominated for the award, or to be selected as one of the five annual finalists. First given to Boston University's J.P. McKersie in 1996, the prestigious award was claimed in back-to-back seasons by Hockey East athletes in 2003-04 (Northeastern goaltender Chanda Gunn) and 2004-05 (Boston College defenseman Sarah Carlson.) Maine's Jim Leger was the other Hockey East winner, receiving the award for the 1999-2000 season. Northeastern's Missy Elumba became the fifth recipient in HEA history in April of 2009. She was presented the award at the Men's Frozen Four in Washington, D.C. at the Verizon Center. Hockey East has also had seven Hockey Humanitarian finalists and had seven total finalists spanning four consecutive seasons between 2002-03 and 2005-06.

MISSION STATEMENT

In an era of ever-increasing ego display, when so many of today's athletes are sending the wrong message to our children and when success often seems measured solely by dollar signs and contract signings, it is time to call attention to individuals who embody all that is, and can be, right with sport. While the media often seem preoccupied with the antics of players after the whistle or outside the game - all the while decrying the absence of better role models for our youth - the Hockey Humanitarians want to put sports, and all of its participants, in the proper perspective. And, while team games, by definition, encompass both teamwork and the contributions of the individual to the success of the group as a whole, we want to acknowledge the accomplishments of personal character, scholarship, and the giving of oneself off the ice to the larger community as well. The Humanitarian Award is meant to be seen as a true measure of a person's worth, not just as an athlete, but as someone who embodies those values that merit our recognition.

It is our hope that in some small way such a display will have a positive influence on future generations of hockey players. We feel an obligation to help our children find the proper balance as they confront deciding who their role models are and what values they should embrace in this increasingly complex world. Our foundation believes there are Humanitarians to be found in programs everywhere and that it is time for many in the media to reconsider their focus on the frequently destructive and selfish behavior of those athletes who often receive too much of our attention. We feel that the great majority of us share the values represented by The Humanitarian Award and that the time has come for this message to be more widely disseminated.

- 2007-08 Finalist: Missy Elumba, Northeastern
- 2008-09 Missy Elumba, Northeastern

NU's Missy Elumba was the fifth Hockey East player to win the prestigious Hockey Humanitarian Award, after she was a repeat finalist in 07-08.

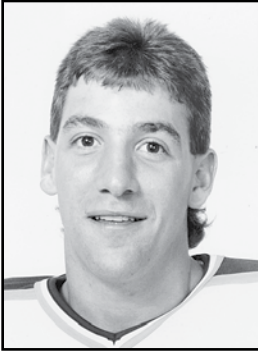

THE HOBEY BAKER MEMORIAL AWARD

On April 7, 2000, Boston College captain Mike Mottau was named the winner of the annual Hobey Baker Award ahead of fellow BC finalists Jeff Farkas and Brian Gionta. Skating its third consecutive Hobey winner and sixth in 10 seasons, Hockey East earned the moniker "Home of the Hobey". David Emma of Boston College was the league's first Hobey Baker recipient in 1991. An outstanding rookie named Paul Kariya captured the award while leading his Maine team to a NCAA title in 1993 after fellow Black Bear Scott Pellerin had collected the prestigious trophy in 1992.

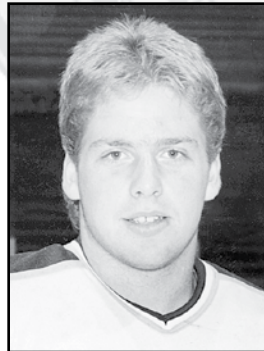

Most recently in 2009, BU defenseman Matt Gilroy was the 29th recipient of the prestigious award. Gilroy notched a career-high 37 points in his senior campaign, while leading the Terriers to their fifth national title in school history.

After a four-year hiatus, Hockey East commenced its second string of winners when BU's Chris Drury was named college hockey's most dominant player in 1998. New Hampshire's Jason Krog added the trophy to his case in 1999 and Mottau completed Hockey East's second triumvirate of winners when he stepped up to the medal stand in April of 2000. Three-time finalist Gionta fell just short of making it four in a row for Hockey East when he finished runner-up to Michigan State's Ryan Miller in 2001.

The Hobey Baker Award is presented annually to the most outstanding college hockey player in the U.S. The Hobey Baker Award was initiated in 1981. Each year, a list of nominees from college coaches around the country is narrowed down to ten finalists and then narrowed down the three "Hobey Hat Trick", from which the winner is selected.

HOCKEY EAST'S HOBEY BAKER

LEN CEGLARSKI AWARD

INDIVIDUAL SPORTSMANSHIP

This award, named in honor of retired Boston College Head Coach Len Ceglarski, is given by the league to one player who has consistently demonstrated superior conduct and sportsmanship on the ice. The directors of Hockey East established the Len Ceglarski Sportsmanship Award in 1992. Each school nominates one player. The award is then voted upon by head coaches, sports information directors and league officials.

Strong notched 16 points for the Catamounts in his senior season, while playing in all 27 league games. Strong was only called for three penalties during the whole conference schedule. He is the first Catamount to win the award since Vermont joined the league in 2005-06.

CHARLES HOLT AWARD

TEAM
SPORTSMANSHIP

Hockey East proudly recognizes an entire team for its sportsmanlike play with the Charles E. Holt Sportsmanship Award, named after the former UNH coach. This award is given to the team which receives the lowest average penalty minutes per game over the course of regular season Hockey East play. The Team Sportsmanship Award was established by the league's directors in 1992 and was renamed to honor Holt in 1998. The award is in the form of a shadow box with etched glass depicting the image of New Hampshire's legendary coach.

The University of New Hampshire won the Holt Team Sportsmanship Award for the fifth time in school history. UNH averaged an all-time league low 8.8 penalties minutes per game last season. Providence finished as the runner-up averaging 10.8 penalty minutes per game.

WILLIAM FLYNN TOURNAMENT MVP

This award, named in honor of the former Boston College Athletics Director, is given to the Most Valuable Player in the Hockey East Championship Tournament, as voted by a panel of writers and broadcasters. Matt Lombardi from Boston College was the 26th recipient of the award in March of 2010. Lombardi registered six points (4g,2a) in four tournament games, which included a hat trick and the game-winning goal in the Hockey East Championship Game vs. Maine in the 7-6 overtime win on March 20, 2010. He becomes the eighth Eagle to win Tournament MVP honors and is the 10th senior to earn this recognition. A complete list of past winners is available on page 60.

TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS

Hockey East awards team trophies to the regular season champion(s) and to the tournament champion. New Hampshire clinched its eighth regular season championship on Friday, March 5th with a 3-3 tie at the Whittemore Center vs. Boston College. The Eagles won their league-record ninth Hockey East Tournament Title, defeating Maine to bring their record to 5-1 in Hockey East Championship Game meetings. A complete list of the past winners is available on pages 59 and 60.

WEEKLY AND MONTHLY AWARDS

During the regular season, weekly awards are given to a Player of the Week, a Rookie of the Week and a Defensive Player of the Week. The conference staff chooses the honorees, with help from SID's and coaches. Player of the Month, Goaltender of the Month and Rookie of the Month are chosen in the same manner. Recipients of these honors during the 2009-10 season are listed on page 88.

HOCKEY EAST ALL-STARS

The Hockey East All-Star teams spotlight the best talents that each position and each season has to offer. Selected by a vote of the league's 10 head coaches, the All-Stars are often just as strong in character as they are in skill.

New Hampshire led the way with three selections, all of which were chosen to the First-Team, while Boston College Maine, Massachusetts and UMass-Lowell each had two honorees apiece.

REEBOK ALL-AMERICAN TEAMS

Hockey East placed six All-Americans (3 First-Team, 3 Second-Team) in its ranks in 2009-10. Hobey Baker Hat Trick finalists Bobby Butler (UNH) and Gustav Nyquist (Maine) headlined the group on the First-Team, along with BU's Colby Cohen. All six of the honorees this season were All-America selections for the first time in their respective careers. In six of the last seven seasons, Hockey East has placed at least seven players on the All-America Team. In 2003-04, the league set a record with 11 of the 12 All-Americans on the East side, coming from HEA. The Reebok All-American Teams are selected by the American Hockey Coaches Association. A total of 181 All-Americans (85 First-Team, 96 Second-Team) have played in the 26-year history of the league.

BOB KULLEN COACH OF THE YEAR

This award is given in the name of the late Bob Kullen, who served as head coach of the UNH Wildcats. The award goes to the head coach who is considered to have demonstrated the highest number of significant accomplishments over the course of the season as voted by the conference's head coaches.

Merrimack College's Mark Dennehy and New Hampshire's Dick Umile were named Co-Coach of the Year, which marked the first time in league history that the award was a shared honor.

Dennehy led the Warriors to a sixth place finish, their best finish since a fifth-place finish in 1997. He also improved the team's win total to 16 from nine in the 2008-09 season. Umile led the Wildcats to the school's eighth regular-season title with 15 wins in league play.

Umile has won the award a league-record six times in the 26-year history of the award and BU's Jack Parker has earned the distinction on five occasions.

Merrimack's Mark Dennehy and UNH's Dick Umile accept Co-Coach of the Year honors from Cathy Kullen Leach

SPENCER T. PENROSE AWARD

The American Hockey Coaches Association (AHCA) annually selects the NCAA Division I Coach of the Year and presents him with the Penrose Award. The trophy is named in memory of Spencer T. Penrose, the man whose fortune in gold and copper built the famous Broadmoor Hotel and athletic complex in Colorado Springs, Co., the site of the first 10 NCAA hockey championships.

BU's Jack Parker was most recent Hockey East coach to win the honor in 2009. It marked third time in his career that he was the recipient of the award.

WINNINGEST COACHES

Jerry York

The year after Boston College's Jerry York surpassed 800 wins, Boston University's Jack Parker accomplished the same feat, and is now only four wins from York for a tie for second on the all-time wins list. However, Parker still leads the list in Hockey East all-time wins, with 361. In 2006-2007, UNH head coach Dick Umile passed the late Shawn Walsh of Maine to assume the No. 2 spot behind Parker and currently has amassed 269 league wins heading into the 2009-10 season.

WINNINGEST COACHES

ALL-ACADEMIC TEAM

Hockey East is proud to announce 79 student-athletes that were named to the 2009-2010 All-Academic Team in the league's 26th season of play. Each student-athlete achieved a grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 or better in each of the two academic periods during which he was actively competing.

The University of Massachusetts set the standard in the conference this year with 13 honorees, followed by the University of Maine with 12 student-athletes making the grade, while Merrimack College placed 10 honorees on the squad. UMass-Lowell and Providence College each placed nine recipients on the team in 2009-2010.

The league also boasted seven student-athletes that received "Distinguished Scholar" status. Those earning "Distinguished Scholar" status achieved a 3.0 or better in each semester over four varsity seasons. Boston College senior forward Ben Smith (Avon, Conn.), Massachusetts defenseman Martin Nolet (Quebec City, Que.) and forward Brett Watson (Media, Pa.), UMass-Lowell forward Paul Worthington (Langhorne, Pa.), Merrimack goaltender Andrew Braithwaite (Kingston, Ont.) and forward J.C. Robitaille (Des Ruisseau, Que.), along with Northeastern senior forward Greg Costa (Crownsville, Md.) all earned All-Academic status in four seasons.

Merrimack's Braithwaite also earned 4.00 GPA on the year to earn Hockey East Top-Scholar Athlete honors for the third straight season with the Warriors.
